Continuing its ability to remain on the cusp of cutting edge technology, Drescher Insurance recently released its own iPhone application—a new tool designed to meet the needs of personal and commercial lines customers.

The free application—which is available to both current and prospective customers alike—features endless resources, from assisting drivers in the midst of an auto accident, to connecting clients with their insurance carriers 24 hours a day.

“One of our core values is to provide our customers with the resources they need to make their lives easier,” said David K. Drescher, founder and owner of the Drescher Insurance Agency. “For years we have offered technological resources to assist our clients, and this new iPhone application is simply an extension of our pledge as a full-service agency.”

While the application offers several new features for Drescher Insurance clients that aid them in starting the claims process, many of the features in the application's "What to Do in an Accident" can guide any driver through the steps that need to be taken following an accident and assist with documenting the details of the accident.
