SNOWMOBILE SAFETY

Snowmobile riding can be a risky sport. Before you ride, learn how to properly use all the mechanical controls and safety devices of your vehicle. Read your owner's manual. Most importantly, take a safety course before riding.

• Wear a helmet, as well as eye protection at all times and other protective clothing suitable to the environment.

• Learn proper riding skills from an instructor or qualified rider and practice such skills before riding.

• Always maintain a safe travel distance between riders. Tailgating can lead to collisions and injuries.

• Ride with others and always let someone know where you are riding. Never ride alone.

• Obey the laws.

• Stay on trails designated for snowmobiles.

• Know the area you are riding in. Be aware of its potential hazards.

• Always ride at a safe and very responsible speed. Know your abilities and don't exceed those levels.

• Carry a map of the trail or area you intend to travel.

• Clear snow dust off your tail lights at frequent intervals.

• Be informed of local weather conditions, and don't forget to dress and equip yourself appropriately.

• Use common sense.
